format, which means that the columns are comma separated. If you are working in Excel, you can easily change format: select save as and choose .csv format.

All what is required is that each order line contains part reference in the first column and quantity in the second column (separated by a semicolon if you work in text program). You can use either the SLP or the manufacturer's reference number. If you use the manufacturer's ref.no., this cannot contain any abbreviation like VOE or similar and it cannot have the control number from Volvo (ex. 111111-0). If no quantity is specified, the result will show one (1).

When the file is uploaded, the order lines will appear as usual and you can continue making changes and additions.
